Brexit – Implications for business in Germany

Deloitte Brexit Lecture II

Frankfurt am Main, 18 May 2017

Dear Sir or Madam,

Ten months after the Brexit referendum, the negotiations between the EU and Great Britain are imminent. The course and outcome of the negotiations are quite open as of date, many scenarios are conceivable. In this context, we invite you to join us for an evening looking forward.

We welcome you to analyze and discuss the implications of Brexit, together with the former President of the European Council and former Belgian Prime Minister Herman van Rompuy, the Institute for Law and Finance of Goethe University Frankfurt and Deloitte.

So we cordially invite you to our second Brexit Lecture on 18 May 2017 from 7 p.m. until 10 p.m. in the marvelous guesthouse of the Goethe University Frankfurt.

Agenda

We want to illuminate the Brexit from different perspectives: political, economic, entrepreneurial and legal. The following topics will be discussed in detail:

- European political perspective – keynote speech: Herman van Rompuy
- European legal perspective: PD Dr. Alexander Thiele, University of Göttingen
- German business perspective: Adrian Crampton, COO, Deloitte Germany
- UK business perspective: David Strachan, Partner, Deloitte UK
- European regulatory perspective: Dr. Mathias Hanten, Partner, Deloitte Legal
- Panel discussion

After the panel discussion we will get together for food, drinks and talks.

The speeches will be delivered in English.
