

Contents

Foreword — V

Preface — VII

Introduction — XIX

The authors — XXV

Can the Capital Markets Union be a Game Changer?

Lorenzo Bini Smaghi

The Political Economy of the Capital Market Union — 3

Lord Jonathan Hill

‘Will the Capital Markets Union be a game changer?’ — 13

Patrick Kenadjian

The Capital Markets Union revisited: what do we want and need from it and can the Savings and Investment Union deliver that? — 19

The Effects of Market-based Non-bank Competition

Joanna Cound

The private markets opportunity and its implications for financial markets — 47

Bárbara Navarro

Banking and non-banking financial institutions: Co-existing to better finance the challenges of Europe’s economy — 55

Andreas Dombret and Oliver Wünsch

The Future of the Financial Sector: Insights on Bank Disintermediation — 65

The Effects of Central Bank Digital Currencies

Piero Cipollone

The digital euro's effect on the financial sector — 73

Karmela Holtgreve

Lessons from BIS Innovation Hub experiments on central bank digital currencies (CBDCs) — 81

Andreas Ittner and Daniel Schwarzböck

CBDCs – The most transformative innovation in the financial system — 95

Wim Mijs

The Digital Euro: A Part of a Competitive and Sovereign European Payments System? — 101

The Effects of Regulatory Reform

Elke König

Banking Regulation: Reforming Without Retreating — 109

Davide Taliente

The growth imperative: thinking strategically about deregulation — 115

The Effects on Monetary Policy

Stijn Claessens

Monetary policy, risk-taking and NBFI: what differs? — 127

Gaston Gelos

Nonbank finance and monetary policy transmission — 139